The Custom Order Kit

Words and a process for made-to-order books.

PARTNER BONUS 2

The Custom Order Kit

Everything you need to offer a made-for-one-family Memory Escape Book as a personalised order: the listing words, the questions to ask, the messages to send and the checks to run.

This kit gives you words and a process. It does not promise orders or income, and it is not legal or tax advice. Check the rules of any marketplace before you list on it.

What you are offering

A life-story journal for one named person, where the puzzles are built from that family's own names, photo years, recipe and home town. The buyer answers one form; you build the book in Clueboo; they receive a book nobody else has.

Two ways to deliver

	Printable PDF	Printed book
What the buyer gets	The Printable PDF from Clueboo (equal margins) to print at home or at a copy shop	A bound paperback sent to their door
What you need	Nothing but the file	A printer that prints one-off books for you. Check its current terms, sizes and costs before you promise a date
Say clearly in the listing	Digital download. Nothing is posted.	Made to order. State your real making time and the printer's shipping time

Description you can edit

This is a life-story journal made for one person: yours.

Each part of their life (childhood, first jobs, falling in love, and more) is locked behind a puzzle. Someone solves the lock, your storyteller tells what was behind it, and the answers are written into the book in their own hand.

The puzzles are built from your family: your real names fill the family tree, the years of your own photographs make the photo timeline, your recipe is on the recipe card, and the landmarks of your home town stand on the map.

How it works
1. Place the order.
2. I send you a short form (about ten minutes).
3. I build your book and check that every puzzle solves.
4. You receive [the printable PDF / the printed book] within [your real time].

Please know
· [Number] pages, 8.5 × 11 inches, black and white inside.
· Three levels of hints and full answers are at the back.
· Because it is made for you, [your real policy on changes and returns].

What to ask in the personalisation box

Who is the book for, and what does your family call them? I will send you a short form for the rest.

Messages to keep

After the order

Thank you for your order. To make the book yours I need a few details about your family: names, the years of a few photographs, one family recipe and some places from the home town. The form is attached and takes about ten minutes. I start as soon as it comes back.

If the form has something the book cannot take

Thank you, the form is lovely. One small thing: two of your photographs are from the same year, and the photo puzzle needs each year to be different so it has only one right answer. Could you give me another year for one of them, or shall I use just one of the two?

Proof for approval

Here are the cover and three pages of your book. Please check the spelling of every name. Tell me if anything should change; if all is well, reply “approved” and I will finish it.

Delivery

Your book is ready. A tip for the first evening: let the person solving read each puzzle aloud, and let [name] tell the story before anyone writes. Hints are on the last pages if a lock is stubborn.

Your build checklist

1. Start a book for the right storyteller and type the family name they use.
2. Choose who plays, the book length and the puzzle level that suits them. Use Large Print for an older storyteller filling it in alone.
3. Open Puzzles → Your family in the puzzles and type in the form. Read every red line.
4. Click the link under each box so its puzzle is in the book.
5. On Cover, set the title, the tagline and a color they like.
6. Wait for the green box: Clueboo solved this book.
7. Read all six puzzle pages yourself for spelling.
8. Download the files and send the proof.

Work out your own price

Fill this in with your real numbers before you set a price. Nothing here is a suggestion of what to charge.
