The Pre-Publish Flight Check

Two pages to run through before every upload. Clueboo proves the puzzles solve; this catches everything a checker cannot see.

1 · In Clueboo

[ ] I read the title page, the opening and the ending aloud. They sound like one story.

[ ] The name the family uses is spelled the same on the cover, the title page and in the story.

[ ] I looked at all six puzzle pages. Nothing is cut off, and the instructions make sense to me.

[ ] If I typed a family's own content, there is no red line under any box on the Puzzles tab.

[ ] I opened three Story Time pages. The questions suit this storyteller.

[ ] The hints and answers pages are at the back and I can read them.

[ ] The cover title fits, the tagline is true of this book, and the white barcode box is empty.

[ ] Both files are downloaded after my last change (both ticks are showing).

2 · With a real person

[ ] I played the first puzzle with someone who had not seen it. They knew what to do without my help.

[ ] They turned to the right page and found the stamp.

[ ] I timed one room: _____ minutes.

[ ] I noted where they got stuck: _____

3 · On KDP

[ ] Paperback. Black & white interior, white paper. The spine is cut for white paper.

[ ] Trim size 8.5 × 11 in. Interior bleed: No bleed.

[ ] Interior PDF uploaded as the manuscript; Cover PDF uploaded as a print-ready cover.

[ ] The spine text (books of 79 pages and more) sits inside the spine in the previewer.

[ ] I answered the question about AI-generated content truthfully. Clueboo's stories and questions were drafted with AI and edited; the puzzles are made by ordinary code.

[ ] Title and subtitle say who the book is for and what it is. No "bestseller", no other author's name.

[ ] My seven keyword boxes are filled (bonus 7) and repeat no word from the title.

[ ] The description says how many pages, who plays, and that hints and answers are included.

[ ] For a Spanish book, the language is set to Spanish.

4 · After it is live

[ ] I ordered one copy and checked the printed cover and three puzzle pages.

[ ] I wrote the publish date on my 30-Book Roadmap (bonus 8) and started the next row.
